Revamped Narberth Team Gives Hilldale Stiff Battle on Wednesday, Losing 8 to 4

By DAVE CASEY

Gene Davis' rebuilt Narberth team played a fast, snappy game Wednesday night, and although defeated by the strong Hilldale outfit, gave the star colored boys several scares, and with little better hitting with men on bases would, no doubt, have chalked up a victory.

Bill Reynolds pitched a splendid game, when one considers the fact that Hilldale numbers in its lineup several batters of major league calibre. The revamped Narberth team played a brilliant fielding game, a strong contrast to their play in recent Main Line League games. Bob Jones at third and Bill Walker at shortstop gave the large crowd several thrills with their sparkling play, while Nick Carter, of Penn. A. C., robbed the Hilldale batters of several hits by his great catches in right field. Bob Martin, playing left field, found the Hilldale pitching to his liking, and led the Narberth batters with three clean singles. Judy Johnson, veteran Hilldale star, starred for the visitors in both hitting and fielding, while White, the Hilldale center fielder, produced the longest hit of the evening, with a home-run drive in the seventh that cleared the high hedge in left field.

Annual Drive for Fourth of July Celebration Funds
Started.

If you received a letter this week from the Fourth of July committee it means that you are on the list of elect, those who serve well, who respond when they are called, who are not disregarding of the reasonable and good things which ought to occur in a suburban town as the result of general community participation.

Last year it is said that more than 10,000 persons were gathered on our fine field to witness the gorgeous displays which were provided by the Legion from the generous funds which our people contributed.

According to the Lower Merion police, no place on the Main Line has an occasion nearly as attractive and it is reported that several of the towns along the road have had some pretty lively tilts among the populace because Narberth's celebration was so much superior to their own. Ain't that sumpin!

One thing has been fairly well established here and that is the fact that we might be away for the holiday is no reason why our name should not be in the hat. This never was a borough of small potatoes.

Five Days Cloudy

Temperatures varying from 52 to 84 for the week of June 9 to 15 are reported by Charles Decker, Main Line weather observer, at Narberth. Five days out of the week were cloudy, though rain fell but two, the 10th and 11th.

Chilean Consul in Philadelphia, New Resident of Narberth, Likes the Suburbs

The Main Line has a distinguished new resident in the person of Senor Enrique Bustos, Chilean Consul for the Philadelphia district who recently moved to Narberth. There he is occupying, with his family, the home of Mrs. Norman Jefferies at 219 North Narberth Avenue.

Mr. Bustos, who is as charming and cultivated a man as one could wish to meet, said, when interviewed this week, that he was very pleased with his new home. The suburbs appealed to him particularly, he said, on account of his children, girls of eight and ten years and a boy of two. The house has one of the loveliest settings of any home in the borough with fine old trees and a beautiful hedge-enclosed garden.

Not a newcomer to Philadelphia is Mr. Bustos. He first came to the con-sulate from Baltimore in 1918. In 1920 he was sent to Spain and England but returned to the Philadelphia consulate in 1921. The year 1925-26 he spent in Washington as secretary to the Chilean Embassy. In 1927 he returned to the Philadelphia Consulate where he has since been.

Mr. Bustos has studied at the University of Pennsylvania and is at present connected with the faculty as an instructor in the Romance languages.

In his work at the consulate office at 1708 Real Estate Trust Building, Mr. Bustos has had very friendly contacts with Mayor Mackey and feels that the Mayor has done much to strengthen business relations between Philadelphia and all South American countries. Mayor Mackey's proposed South American trip, he also believes,

Parks Hurls Narberth to Win Over Oakmont

Former Lower Merion Boy Strikes Out 15 As Borough Nine Leaves Cellar.

By DAVE CASEY

The brilliant pitching of Keith Parks, former Lower Merion High football and baseball star, now at Penn State, coupled with a slam-bang heavy-hitting eighth inning enabled Narberth to break their four-game losing streak by defeating Wye Justis' Oakmont Club, 6-2, last Saturday afternoon at the playground. The much-needed victory allowed the Narberth Club to escape the ignominy of the cellar position in the Main Line League, the defeat sustained by the Oakmonters thrusting them into that unwanted post.

The outstanding feature of the game was Parks' high-class twirling, by far the best exhibited by a Narberth pitcher this year. This nineteen-year-old local boy, pitching a cool, steady game throughout, retired fifteen of the visitors by the strikeout route, allowed only five hits and would have had a shutout except for two costly errors on the part of his supporting cast.

Up to the sixth inning the game was a scoreless pitching duel between Parks and Al Hermann, who also pitched a creditable game up to the hectic eighth, when he lost his grip on the situation entirely. In the sixth Oakmont broke the ice with a single run, when, after two were out, an error by Gilfillan put Reynolds on first base and Sipler scored him with a long two-bagger to left-field. The visitors threatened again in the seventh when R. Hermann and Ortlip opened the inning with singles and advanced to second and third on Friday's sacrifice. However, Parks rose to the occasion and fanned A. Hermann and McNally, ending the inning.

Narberth opened the eighth auspiciously when Herb Baker crashed a double, his third hit of the afternoon. Then Barney Slaughter, the dashing centre-fielder, slugged a long three-base hit to deep left-field and the score was tied. These events seemed to rattle young Hermann as the Narberth batting order at once began to flog his shoots with vim and vigor. In quick succession came singles from the bats of Humphries, Harris, Martin, King, Parks and Baker, which, along with passes issued to Gilfillan and McKee, sent six of the home boys across the plate.

Parks continued his excellent pitching behind this commanding lead and breezed through the last two innings without serious trouble, although Oakmont scored in their half of the eighth when Martin muffed Sipler's easy fly, allowing Reynolds, who was on base through a walk, to score. The eighth inning was enlivened by an unusual circumstance caused by incompetent umpiring which caused some argument. Sipler was caught off first by one of Catcher King's characteristic snap throws, but Base Umpire Tawney indicated that the runner was safe. At this both Catcher King and Manager Davis voiced loud objections, and Tawney, admitting he was not in a position to see the play clearly, put the matter up to Chief Umpire Dillon, who reversed the decision. This change brought Manager Wye Justis of the visitors prancing out of the dugout and after some discussion it was announced that Manager Justis would protest the game. However, there is very little chance that his protest will be upheld by the league officials as the rules clearly confer the right of the chief umpire to reverse a decision for just cause, and it is rather surprising that an experienced baseball man like Justis is not aware of this.

Star Jap and Chinese

Team Here Monday

Manager Gene Davis has arranged another high-class baseball attraction for next Monday evening (the 22d), when his Narberth team will meet the Oriental Club of Philadelphia.

This team is composed of star Japanese and Chinese players, and is managed by Buck Lai, one of the finest semi-pro infielders in this vicinity. Manager Davis has gone to considerable expense to secure this club as an opponent and he naturally hopes that the local fans will turn out in large numbers and enable him to make this game a financial, as well as an athletic success. The game is scheduled to begin at six-fifteen and all who attend are sure to see an interesting contest.

On Wednesday night East Phillies, another fast semi-pro team, will oppose the Narberth boys.

Brookline Beats Narberth in Twilight Contest

By DAVE CASEY

Johnny Numan's Brookline Club defeated Narberth in a listless contest played last Monday evening at the playground by a score of 4 to 1. The game was marked by ragged fielding on the part of the Narberth infield that contributed materially to the visitors' victory. However, the visitors had little trouble bashing the delivery of Jim McKee and no doubt would have triumphed without the assistance of the misplays. Connor, a former Darby High pitcher, hurled well for Brookline, holding the Davismen to three hits. Banes, the visitors' centre-fielder, starred at bat, with a triple and two singles.

Pennypacker Greatest 'Money' Player in Ranking of L. M. Athletes for Decade

By TOMMY MACKLIN

Lower Merion High School has graduated many sterling athletes in her history, but the past ten years has probably seen the greatest group of stars leave her portals to carry on in higher institutions of learning.

I will not attempt to go farther back than the last decade, although many outstanding athletes carried her colors to victory in early days, men such as David H. Bartlett, who many consider as Lower Merion's outstanding athlete; Les Haws, of Dartmouth fame; Bill Shupert, captain of Brown University football team; Jay McCurdy, who made the Pennsylvania University track team in his freshman year, and George Yocum, a powerful light on the football field. A host of others left the Montgomery Avenue School with high honors in this field, but we will leave them for the present and talk about the later lights.

John Pennypacker of this year's graduating class is the greatest "money" player I have ever seen at Lower Merion. By that expression, I mean that he always came through when the going was rough. John had everything that a good athlete should have. A stalwart body, a good disposition, he loved to take punishment; he was never knocked out in hard tackles, and when the opposition raised their highest barriers, John could always surmount them. There will be many who disagree with me, but the coaches who have handled him and the coaches who have seen him in action will all second the choice. John won his varsity letter in football twice, basketball twice, track twice and tennis twice. An all-around athlete with a fighting heart and a steady hand.

Jimmy Faulk, of Villanova, is my second choice in Lower Merion's list of ranking athletes. Jimmy was a bang-up end on the varsity football team for two years, captain of the basketball team and high scorer for two years, captain of the baseball team in his senior year, and a star shortstop for three years. Jimmy is now regular on the University of Alabama Ball Club, and will be a star on the basketball court before he leaves.

Paul Scull, the best known of all Lower Merion boys, is my choice for third place in the all-around group. Paul was a wonderful football star, making all-American at Penn in his senior year; he was a good guard at basketball, and a fair baseball player. He was letterman in all of these sports two or three years. His greatest sport, of course, was football.

Howard "Eggs" Morris takes fourth place on my list. Morris was, with the exception of Gene Kuen, the greatest tackle at Lower Merion in recent years. He was the best fullback I ever saw in high school, but he was moved to the tackle post in his senior year. He was a tower of strength on the basketball team, and he was a marvel in track. Howard won his football letter three years, his basketball letter one year, and his track emblem three years. He was captain of the Haverford College track team and football team in his senior year.

Albert Kohlhas, now an ensign in Uncle Sam's navy, is my choice for the fifth position. Al was an excellent quarterback, an excellent basketball player and a star pole vaulter. He was a star at Navy in football and track, as well as wrestling and swimming.

Following these five, you have boys like Frank Peabody, Folwell Scull, Joe McCann, Howard Forte, Warren Lockwood, Al Mandes, Bob Sigel, James Turner, Derham brothers, the Dolan brothers, "Reds" Kohlhas, the Miller boys, Keith Parks, Gene Kuen and many others who were stars in one sport or two, and who are outstanding on Lower Merion's list of athletic heroes.

You have my listing of the first five. Take them and shuffle them any way you like and draw the names in order and you will be right, for there was not much to choose between the five. They were all stars, and their classmates will not soon forget their contribution to the athletic history of the great high school known as Lower Merion.

'Time Out'

By TOMMY MACKLIN

We take time out to wish you all a very happy vacation with lots of seashore and mountains, and an extra supply of sunshine to brighten the load for the coming fall and winter.

Harvey Buck won the cup for the greatest proficiency in athletics for the past year at Lower Merion Junior High School Tuesday evening at the Junior High Night performance.

Louis Buck was elected captain of the Lower Merion Track team for next year. Louis was a crack half-miler this year and he should be almost unbeatable in this distance next year.

Herbert Thomas was elected captain of the baseball team at the Magroon institution for next season. Herbert was the leading slugger for the team this year, pitched some good games of ball and played a nice game in the outfield.

Emmett Wynn, second baseman, had a number of votes for the captaincy also. Emmett should be the best keystone man in the league next year.

Our All-Suburban baseball team for the past season:
First base, Brunhouse, Haverford.
Second base, Buckley, Haverford.
Third base, McCoy, Lower Merion.
Shortstop, Ralston, Upper Darby.
Center field, Evangelist, Norristown.
Right field, Cullinan, Haverford.
Catcher, Givens, Abington.
Pitchers, Durante, Norristown; Odi-orne, Lower Merion.

Substitutes: Veach, Chester, pitcher; Parella, Norristown, catcher; Jenkins, Upper Darby, infielder; Thomas, Lower Merion, outfielder.

With this ball club any high school coach could take a vacation without worry.

Thanks to Bill Anderson, of Lower Merion High, for his help in picking this club.

Parochial School Track Title Won by Our Mother of Good Counsel, Bryn Mawr

Track athletes representing Our Mother of Good Counsel School carried off team honors in the Main Line parochial track and field championships, sponsored by the Bishop Kenrick Council, of the Knights of Columbus, in the Villanova College Stadium last Saturday.

The Bryn Mawr athletes tallied 36 points and held a wide margin over St. Denis, of Ardmore, which finished second with 21 markers. St. Thomas, of Villanova, was third, just a point behind the runner-up.

St. Matthias, of Bala, was fourth with 10 points, while the other schools finished as follows: St. Colman's, of Ardmore, 7; St. Margaret's, of Narberth, 5; Annunciation, of Brookline, 5, and St. Monica, of Berwyn, 4. Sacred Heart School, of Manoa, and St. Patrick's, of Malvern, each had entries but failed to garner any points.

Our Mother of Good Counsel's team notched tallies in eight of the twelve events. Connelly, Burns and Gallagher played a prominent part in the triumph of Jim Foley's team. The Bryn Mawr team won the K. of C. A. A. team trophy.

The winners in the various events were: W. Wilson, St. Denis, broad jump; J. Crowley, St. Thomas, 75-yard dash; J. Hays, Mother of Good Counsel, 100-yard dash; W. Halas, St. Denis, standing broad jump; J. Connelly, Mother of Good Counsel, junior for baseball throw; J. Bruns, Good Counsel, senior broad jump; J. Robinson, Annunciation, intermediate baseball throw; St. Matthias, junior 440 relay; St. Thomas, intermediate 440 relay; J. Daley, St. Monica's, senior broad jump; H. Gallagher, Good Counsel, junior 50-yard dash, and Good Counsel, senior 880 relay.

The Birth of the Nation

Once again Narberth makes ready for its Fourth of July celebration and the lofty keynote struck by the sponsors of the occasion warrants the expectation that this year's observance will be quite in keeping with the rich traditions of the past.

The Borough is fortunate in having an ideal site for holiday festivities, probably the outstanding community centre of its kind in the whole Philadelphia area, and the thousands of spectators, who annually come from far and near to witness the great spectacles which are provided, afford evidence that the town knows how to give proper expression to the patriotic faith which abides in this historical neighborhood.

There is no doubt that the contributions will be as numerous and as generous as they ever have been and that Narberth's prestige shall be enhanced splendidly as a result of it all.

For Generations to Come

The importance of the program of the Pennsylvania Parks Association to the Main Line cannot be overemphasized. With an accurate knowledge of present conditions, and eyes fixed many years in the future, the members are laying the foundation for the health and recreation of generations to come.

On Monday and Tuesday the association will hold its first annual meeting at the very gates of the Main Line. During these two days much work will be done toward the ambition of this group and affiliated local groups to create a great forest park but an hour's drive from our own Main Line. Here deep woods, clear streams and a large lake will offer a retreat for thousands.

Those who attend the sessions next week will be shown the surprisingly beautiful wild country which lies at our very doors. The tract of 100 square miles available for park purposes mantles hills over one thousand feet high, fountain heads of a score of clear swift streams. Country of historical significance abounds in this large region west of us. Much of it should be set aside for preservation now before it is too late.

Scores of citizens are now giving time and money to make this idea a reality. To secure the State aid necessary to its accomplishment, the intelligent help of every resident should be secured.

A Romantic Urge

James Branch Cabell, in "Beyond Life," makes an eloquent statement of the romantic spirit in literature. Doubtless he could make an equally appealing defense of the vacationing habit as an outcropping of the same spirit.

The desire for the annual two weeks off, or whatever one is fortunate enough to get, seems to us not so much a need for physical rest as it is a desire for change, a relief from the every-day routine of life.

Many vacations are spent in much more strenuous activity than one is accustomed to in business or home affairs. But the mere realization of being a free agent, for the time being, with a lifting of responsibilities and worries, acts as a tonic upon brains which are focused upon one aspect of human life, chiefly that of making a living.

Vacations give harassed human beings a chance to stop and breathe, to look around and realize the vast extent of life, the number of really interesting things there are in the world which usually they have no time nor thought for.

For some it may mean the opportunity to travel, to see new sights and learn how the other half lives. It may mean the chance to do some reading one has postponed through lack of leisure. And here we wish to add our protest to the so-called habit of "light reading" for the summer. When one's mind is relieved of every-day problems there is just the opportunity to "tear the heart out," in Johnsonian phrase, of some worthwhile book one has put off reading from lack of time or energy. A summer spent with trifling books is one step further towards intellectual stagnation. Not that we would recommend a diet exclusively of philosophy, biography and history, but rather a judicious mixture of fiction and non-fiction not overlooking entirely books of an older day.

In these days of whir and rush, the words of Emerson are very applicable: "Why so hot, little man?"

In the Theater

"Solitaire Man," the next new Hedgerow production, has been described as "A Man Hunt in the Air" with its action covering the ground and water that lies between Le Bourget and Croyden. The first play of its kind to reach the Hedgerow stage, "Solitaire Man," was written by the Spewacks of Hollywood, who contributed "Sweeney" to the repertory two years ago. The title role will be played by Carl Reukauff and his accomplices in crime and detection will include Frances Torchiana, Catherine Rieser, Dorothy Willard, Harry Bellaver, Joseph Taulane and Al McGranary, when this thriller opens on Saturday afternoon, June 27, and the evening of the same day.

The coming week's program offers, besides, three very different kinds of comedies, the first on Tuesday night being "Merry-Go-Round," by M. M. Musselman. "Roadside," Lynn Riggs' lusty Oklahoma comedy, is on the bill for tonight and next Wednesday. On Thursday night comes the farce built upon Count Grazia's statement that he would kill his wife if she betrayed him—"The Mask and the Face," by Chiarelli. Eugene O'Neill's "The Hairy Ape" will be shown once more on Friday night before it is laid aside for a time to make way for the number of interesting new plays to be added during the present season.

Tomorrow's "double header" will show the Irish comedy, "The Playboy of the Western World" in the afternoon and Shaw's "The Devil's Disciple" in the evening.

Music

Those who heard the concert given by the Main Line School of Music at St. Mary's Parish House on Friday evening, June 5, were given a particularly pleasing treat and it was a great success from all standpoints.

The special feature of this concert was the piano concerto movement played by junior pupils and accompanied by 10 members of the Main Line Orchestra under the direction of Adolph Vogel.

The young soloists, Arnold Fletcher and Harry Wood, both 12 years old, and Mary Andrews, 17, seemed inspired by their orchestral accompaniment and played not only with good musicianship, but with real brilliancy and dash. They were enthusiastically applauded. The small orchestra gave a spirited and sympathetic accompaniment.

In the first half of the program Walter Schmidt, cello instructor at the school, gave great pleasure playing two numbers and an encore, with fine tone and expressive quality. Grace Lindeberg showed brilliancy in her Liszt and Chopin solos. The Mozart Trio for clarinet, viola and piano was exquisitely played by William Fletcher, Gabriel de Paul and that very lovely pianist, Christine Haskell.

The final pupils' recital of the season was given at the school on Thursday afternoon, June 11. The 30 or more young soloists showed careful training, musical tone and fluent, clear technique.

The clarinet and saxophone solos were excellently given and were delightfully accompanied by Arnold Fletcher. The trio for violin, cello and piano, played by Ian McLachlan, Phyllis Coggin and Rosalie Murray, was very pleasing.

Prizes were awarded for excellent work for the season to: Helen Morris, Harry Wood, Jane Rittenhouse and James McQuail. Margaret Johnson won the prize for the weekly sight-reading contest. Those commended for their good work were: Phebe Wood, Doris Seltzer, Amabel Beaumont and Mario Troncelliti.

The Main Line School of Music closes for the season this Saturday and opens its fall semester on September 14. Enrollment may be made now or after September 1.

Narberth Theatre Notes

Foolery of the El Brendel variety will feature "Mr. Lemon of Orange," at the Narberth playhouse this Friday and Saturday. Aiding the Swedish-accent comedian is Fifi Dorsay.

Ina Claire and Frederic March give dramatic and amusing impersonations of the Barrymores (Ethel and John) in "The Royal Family of Broadway," which is coming to Narberth next Monday and Tuesday.

"Fifty Million Frenchmen" is coming to the borough next Wednesday and Thursday, with a musical comedy mixture of song-and-dance and fun.

Percy Crosby's star performer, "Skippy," is due at Narberth's theatre next Friday and Saturday, with a splendid cast, including Robert Coogan, Jackie Cooper, Mitzi Green and Jackie Searl. Don Marquis, famed humorist, collaborated in making the dialogue true to life, and the direction by Norman Taurog is unusually finished.

For the summer, commencing next Monday, matinees will be given daily at 2 P. M. at the Narberth Theatre.

Egyptian Theatre Notes

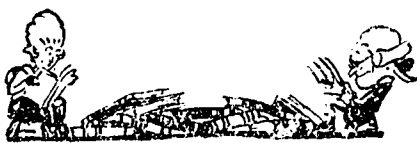

Hailed as one of the two best talking cinemas yet released, "Skippy," playing at the Egyptian Theatre this Friday and Saturday nights and Saturday matinee, is recommended for enjoyment of the entire family. As a "talkie" it rates even higher than the picturization of Mark Twain's "Tom Sawyer," in which the same child actors first won international applause laughter, and a bit of a tear.

Exciting story of an American exile in Paris, blackmailing tourists, is "Man of the World," in which William Powell, Carole Lombard and Wynne Gibson will appear at the Cynwyd playhouse next Monday and Tuesday.

Lovers of genuine humor, of an earthy and yet wholesome variety, will like Charles Chaplin's "City Lights," which is due at the Egyptian next Wednesday and Thursday. In the modern manner of the world's-master pantomimist, the new dramatic comedy has very much of a plot, quite a bit of pathos, and several sequences in which more original and diverting humor is to be appreciated than in any cinema in recent years. The picture has a pleasing musical accompaniment, and no talking.

Next week-end's program at the Egyptian includes a new Laurel and Hardy comedy, "Chickens Come Home," and George Arliss in "The Millionaire," a modern comedy which permits this great character actor to exhibit the genius he displayed in his other popular pictures to an even greater degree. It is a very amusing picture and is ranked with the best he has made.

Library Notes

During the observance of Better Homes Week two years ago last April Mrs. Campbell-Chetwood, who was then staying in Narberth, was greatly interested in the exhibits of the children. These exhibits had been made from direction found in books in the Narberth Library. Some of the things made by the children were miniature airplanes and doll houses and furniture. They also made various articles by folding paper and dressed dolls in the costumes of different countries.

Mrs. Campbell-Chetwood saw the possibility of children being taught to make a great many useful articles as well as others that would beautify the home and give pleasure to the family so she with the approval of the trustees of the library created the Jeanette Campbell-Chetwood Fund for the Encouragement of Better Homes. This fund is in memory of Mrs. Campbell-Chetwood's mother, and the sum to be spent for books each year is $30. Twenty books have been purchased from this fund and placed upon the shelves, and if the generous donor of the gift, who is now in Europe, could see the pleasure the children take in these books she would certainly feel well repaid.

The list of books follows: "Box Book," by H. E. Showalter; "Big Book of Boys' Hobbies," by A. N. Hall; "Outdoor Boy Craftsmen," by A. N. Hall; "When Mother Lets Us Cook," by Constance Johnson; "When Mother Lets Us Make Candy," by E. DuPont-Bacher; "Patty Pans," by Florence LaGanke; "Hobbies for Boys," by G. G. Jackson; "Sew It Book," by R. T. Dixon; "The Boy Mechanic," in four volumes, published by Popular Mechanics; "Easy Steps in Sewing," by J. E. Fryer; "Easy Steps in Cooking," by J. E. Fryer; "Housekeeping, Cookery and Sewing for Little Girls," by O. H. Foster; "When Mother Lets Us Help," by C. E. W. Johnson; "Handicraft for Handy Girls," by A. N. Hall; "Carpentry and Mechanics for Boys," by A. N. Hall; "The Pet Book," by A. B. Comstock; "Letters of a Radio Engineer to His Son," by John Mills.

Trustees of Library

Honor Miss MacKeag

In recognition of the long and untiring services of Anna MacKeag in the Narberth Community Library Association, the trustees of the association wish to express their sense of personal loss and their appreciation of her value as a member and officer of the association.

Miss MacKeag was an active worker in the library from its earliest days; one to whom no task was too slight or too great. When the Library Association was organized, she was elected its first president, in which office she remained for several years, until forced by ill health to decline reelection. Though unable to assume any active work during the past year, her interest remained as keen as ever.

Be it therefore resolved that this expression of appreciation be sent to the family and to Our Town, also that it be spread upon the minutes of the Narberth Community Library Association.

Secretary.

Young German Violinist Finds Lower Merion High Students Responsive to Music

Erwin Wollner, of Bryn Mawr Gables, Gives First Public Recital on Main Line Since Coming to This Country in March; Likes Modern Composers

Students at Lower Merion High School had the privilege recently of hearing a 15-minute program by a talented young German violinist, Erwin Wollner, who recently came to the Main Line to live.

The responsiveness of the students to the music and the absolute quiet that reigned during his playing of Bach's "Chaconne" were particularly impressive to Mr. Wollner.

Other numbers played by Mr. Wollner, in this, his first public appearance on the Main Line, included Weinawski's "Legend," a Negro spiritual, "Nobody Knows," and variations on "The Last Rose of Summer," arranged by Henry William Ernest.

Mr. Wollner came to this country in March to join his wife, the former Miss Mary Hayden Bowen, of Washington, D. C., who is completing her first year as an instructor in English at Bryn Mawr College. The couple first met in Paris in 1927, when she was studying languages in France, and he was studying at the Paris Conservatory. Mrs. Wollner is a Vassar graduate.

Born in Bachum, in Westphalia, young Wollner first showed musical promise at the age of 12. His early studies were conducted at the State Academy at Berlin. During the reconstruction period following the war, he found it difficult to continue his musical education, but after considerable effort he accumulated enough money to permit him to go to Paris to study. There he was a pupil of the famous French music master, Jacques Thibaud. Before he was 24 years old his playing had received lavish praise from critics in Berlin and other European centres.

"We have never heard an artist more gifted with delicacy and elegance. A perfect technique, magnificent sweep and sonority . . . The public could not stop acclaiming him as a violinist without peer," said the Revue Internationale du Theatre after one of his recitals. The Paris edition of the New York Herald, noted for the severity of its criticism, said: "The concert of Mr. Wollner was unusually brilliant. He played with rich tone and deep understanding." The Lokal Anzeiger, of Berlin, said: "The young violinist's profound and accomplished interpretation of Bach and Beethoven aroused storms of applause."

Mr. Wollner has played 13 concerts in Paris, one of them before the American Woman's Club, a large and powerful organization. One of his numbers at this recital was a composition by former Vice President Charles Dawes.

Just before coming to this country in March, Mr. Wollner was working in Czechoslovakia, making musical accompaniments for talking pictures with the UFA Film Corporation.

Mr. Wollner is particularly interested in the music of the young modern composers of all nationalities. "The kind that gets the hisses," he explained with a smile. Such men as Milhaud and Roussel in France; A. Tansman in Poland, and Hindemith, Dobrowen and Alban Berg in Germany, are his especial study. Mr. Wollner is also keen on the music of Thorarin Jonsson, an Icelandic, some of whose works he will play from manuscript in a recital this week-end before the New York Press Club.

Besides being a very gifted musician, Mr. Wollner is also an artist of considerable talent. In his apartment in the Bryn Mawr Gables are several very charming etchings done by him in Europe. When he completes a few more he hopes to hold a private exhibition of his work.

In addition to playing at several private engagements in New York, Mr. Wollner has played over the radio from Station WHN, New York, and expects to do more radio work in the future over other stations.

It is a matter of record, among more and more large fleet operators, that Chevrolet six-cylinder trucks give a lower transportation cost than any other truck of equal capacity in the market.

These firms are finding, through experience, that Chevrolet sedan deliveries are capable of 20 miles or better, to the gallon of gasoline; that Chevrolet 1 1/2-ton trucks are making fuel records which are relatively just as high. That it costs very little to keep Chevrolet trucks in first-class working order. That Chevrolet service

To place your hauling on a minimum-cost basis—and keep it there—put Chevrolet six-cylinder trucks to work. A wide variety of Chevrolet-built bodies is now available. A Page of Local Home and Garden Information

By ROBERT J. EDGAR

Delphinium time.

And also madonna lily time. This early fragrant white lily is one of the choicest plants in the garden. It is only available for September planting. This with the regal lily are among the few lilies that will tolerate lime in the soil. Practically all other lilies prefer light acid soil and partial shade.

Time to get the cold frames full of seeds of Sweet William, Canterbury Bells, Foxgloves and any other biennials that you prefer. Biennials must be sown every year but they are among the indispensables for the complete hardy garden and are well worth the effort.

To take a tip from nature sow seeds at the time when the plant seeds naturally and it will have a long season in which to mature. Many of the best perennials are seeding now. Seeds should be sown during early or mid-summer and plants set out in their permanent places in early fall.

Iris rhizomes are better set out about July first. The fourth would be a good day. September is too late to get well-rooted before frost. Cut the tops back about half way and do not plant too deeply. An iris rhizome should set on the ground like a duck sets on water. Enough roots to keep the division from toppling over are sufficient. Tall bearded irises prefer lots of sun and relish lime.

About July first, or fourth, is a good time to divide Oriental poppies. They have a resting period during July and August when the foliage disappears to return again in September and remain all winter. Pot plants may be set out April first or September first, but dividing old clumps is better accomplished after flowering when the foliage has started to wither. Each crown will make a flowering division for next spring but don't postpone the job too long as the old crowns will be difficult to locate—and don't fail to mark plainly the spots where the divisions are planted.

Ever see galax aphylla flowering in a woodland garden? There is a treat in store for you. Evergreen, bronzy in winter, hardy here, the flower a pretty white spike from a crown of brilliant glossy green leaves and it spreads when given a real woodland condition with real acid soil that stays acid. It is hard to decide between galax and its cousin from the same Southern mountains—shortia galacifolia which flowers in early spring with pretty little fringed bells. Its name down South is Ocanee Bells.

And have you ever been close to a mass of partridgeberry flowering in the woodland? Pairs of delicate pink fragrant flowers followed by waxy red berries, the kind you see in jars in wintertime. The foliage is evergreen and the stems creep along the ground. This perfect little plant which might have been planted by fairies or angels is a native of our own nearby woods.

Sow more baby's breath, mignonette, Shirley poppies, corn flowers, alysium and annual larkspur.

Lots of time to plant dahlias and gladiolus bulbs.

REAL ESTATE

By RITE NOW
Why do people buy Real Estate?

This seems to be a simple question, but has important sidelights. A great part of the people buy homes to live in and others primarily as an investment—often a speculation.

There is the apartment as against home owning. Apartment dwellers should be good prospects for homes and in time should be home owners.

Many people, able to buy homes or able to carry the burden of paying for one by installments, do not want the responsibility that a home involves. Others may not be stable, nor of the type who wish to settle down definitely.

On the whole, most families who do not own a home are looking forward to the time when they will be able to realize this desire.

The sense of stability, security and independence that the home owner feels compensates for any disadvantage in carrying the cost of a home.

There is a greater interest and at the same time an opportunity to add to the attractiveness of one's abode when it is owned rather than rented.

Such things as gardens, lawns, flowers and other additions or improvements are great factors that the apartment dweller misses.

Buying as an investment is a large outlet for considerable capital. Speaking of real estate investment, I do not mean the buying of one's own home, which is an investment.

I am referring to large operators who buy considerable land or developments on that land and wait for prices to soar after transportation, streets, highways and other public improvements enhance the value through no real service of their own.

Political influence to make or change zoning ordinances is often exerted, and this artificially set real estate prices. Considerable could be written on this right here in Ardmore, but it would require separate treatment.

Memorial Unveiled to Soldiers of 1776

Bronze Tablet Containing 83
Names Erected by Merion
Chapter D. A. R.

IN B. M. CHURCHYARD

On the historic ground of the churchyard of the Lower Merion Baptist Church, at Old Gulph and Roberts Roads, Bryn Mawr, a memorial tablet to the memory of the Revolutionary soldiers buried in Lower Merion Township was unveiled on Monday afternoon.

The memorial, a bronze tablet on a large block of granite, contains the name of Charles Thomson, secretary of the Continental Congress, and eighty-two soldiers who are buried in that churchyard and others in Lower Merion. It was erected by the Merion Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania on ground which was given to the trustees of the church by Charles Thomson, who lived nearby.

Mrs. Charles M. Stuard, regent of the Merion Chapter, unveiled the memorial and the State regent, Mrs. Joseph M. Caley, made an address. Colonel Herbert A. Arnold, of Ardmore, also was a speaker, pointing out the historic nature of the countryside. The Rev. George Morton Walker, pastor of the Lower Merion Baptist Church, who gave the invocation and benediction, recalled in the course of some remarks that 16 of William Penn's descendants were buried in that cemetery, that a skirmish occurred on the Thomson estate between American and British troops in December, 1777; that Gulph Road was laid out by William Penn.

The Lower Merion High School Band, resplendent in scarlet uniforms, and an American Legion color guard also participated in the ceremonies. A Boy Scout bugler sounded taps.

Following the unveiling ceremonies a brief memorial service was held at the grave of Mrs. Herbert A. Arnold, former regent of the Merion Chapter, who conceived the idea of the memorial to the Revolutionary soldiers. The names of those honored were verified and their graves located by Miss Margaret Harvey, who organized the Merion Chapter nearly thirty-five years ago. She was assisted in this work by Mrs. Dora Harvey Develin and Mrs. Arnold.

Hundred and Fifty Attend Garden Bridge Party

The Bridge Garden Party sponsored by the board of directors of the Woman's Community Club of Narberth, held on the lawn of Mrs. Robert J. Nash's home on Wednesday afternoon was a very delightful and successful affair both socially and financially. There were about 150 present. The party was given for the benefit of the building fund. Besides, the prize for each table, three beautiful pillows were given as door prizes. The refreshments consisted of homemade cakes and punch. Miss Betty Nash, who wore an old-fashioned French costume, sold candy to the players.

Hear Lieutenant Governor—Dr. Carmon Ross, of Doylestown, Lieutenant Governor of Kiwanis for the Eastern Pennsylvania District, was the speaker at the meeting of the Main Line Kiwanis Club at its meeting Tuesday evening at the Merion restaurant, Ardmore. Jacob C. Fisher, of Norristown, district treasurer, presided.

Federation Unable to Give Children Summer Vacations

For the first time in the history of the Federation of Churches, it is not able to plan this year simple vacations for undernourished children, problem boys and girls, and tired mothers, because of lack of finances. This summer every dollar is needed for the bare necessities of life.

Many residents of this community are looking forward to summer vacations, to pleasant sojourns in the mountains or by the sea. Will you who are making such plans not remember your neighbors, the families reduced in physical and nervous vitality by a year of unemployment, which still continues? These near neighbors of yours will this summer lack food and shelter, the bare necessities of life, unless the community supplies their need.

The Main Line Federation of Churches has an empty treasury. It will require, during the next four months, at least $5000 for relief alone.

Kindly send contributions directly to the Main Line Federation of Churches, Bryn Mawr, or to the Livingston Publishing Company, Ardmore, Pa.

Captains Elected

Herbert Thomas, of Bala-Cynwyd, and Louis Buck, of Merion, were elected captains of the Lower Merion baseball and track teams, respectively, following the final contests in both sports.

will be of great value in building up and fostering economic relations between this country, and particularly Philadelphia, with Chile and other South American nations.

Mr. Bustos, who speaks excellent English, went on to point out that American investments in Chile are estimated at $750,000,000 to $1,000,000,000. This is chiefly due, he said, to the development of Chile's mineral resources, particularly the great copper mines, and to the investment by Americans in Chile's government securities. The National City Bank, of New York, he added, has branches in Santiago and Valparaiso, and is the fiscal agent of Chile in the United States.

"The study of English is compulsory in the schools of Chile," Mr. Bustos said. This has been the case since 1928. In the last couple of years, he added, the American educational system has been introduced, whereas before the colleges and universities followed the French system with more emphasis on classical subjects. Mr. Bustos, himself, is a graduate of the Naval Academy and the University of Chile.

Mr. Bustos was married during his second term at the Philadelphia Consulate to a Long Island girl.

State Parks Association at Valley Forge Monday

Widespread interest is being shown in the plans for the first annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Parks Association, to be held next Monday and Tuesday at Valley Forge. At this time steps will be taken to begin the creation of a great forest park for Montgomery, Delaware, Chester and Berks counties.

On Monday a trip will be taken from Valley Forge through the "History Trail" to Reading, traversing the upper French Creek section to the region where the proposed park would be located, thence down the Brandywine. Lunch will be served at the Reading Country Club.

Several outstanding speakers are scheduled for the dinner Monday night at Valley Forge. A business meeting will be held Tuesday, the meeting ending with a luncheon at the Tredyffrin Country Club. Many Main Line men are prominent in the formation of the forest park plans. Ellwood B. Chapman, of Philadelphia, is president of the State Association.

Rotarians Taken on Journey by Speaker

An interesting talk, analyzing the psychology of Californians, Japanese and residents of the Atlantic seaboard featured the meeting Tuesday of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club. Rev. Lloyd Smith, of the West Laurel Hill Cemetery, was the speaker.

California's appeal was found in the co-operation of its citizens and in their faith in the home country, rather than in the climatic advantages. Japan was shown as a country whose courage and resourcefulness have raised it in 60 years from a condition of isolation to become one of the great nations of the world.

The Atlantic seaboard, with many of its markets lost, the speaker said, has not shown the spirit necessary to recover the advantages which are slipping away. He found, on returning from the Orient to his home community, an atmosphere of internal dissension and pessimism.

"Europe is no longer the great foreign market for our products," he said. "Asia and South America offer the opportunity, and the West coast is seizing the advantage. New markets must be created, and we must have unity among the people of this section if it is to be done."

Conrad Albrecht presided and introduced the speaker.

Give a Dollar or Two or Best You Can Do

The ladies did wonderfully well in 1930 and there is high hope that more of them will come along on the present collection. A "duty" accompanies every "right," say the wise men, and the women appear to have all the "rights" they ever asked for, maybe more than they ever really wanted.

We knew a man years ago whose maximum donation to anything was exactly one dollar. He was making $30 a week at the time. A smart man urged him to give $20 to a worthwhile cause which was up. He was told how a loosening-up process might develop an enlarged vista generally. Bad and all as 1930 was, the erstwhile dollar donor made $15,000 for himself and now you simply can't stop him from giving a lot of it away. One of our bright young men ought to develop that theme for an American magazine "success" story.

Jefferson was 33 when he penned the immortal document which was not enough years for any man to acquire its profound wisdom as a result of his own personal experience. Like a golden thread through the centuries, the great cause of humanity kept on its way, aided here, rebuffed there, and the battle has not yet been altogether won even in our own day. When we rally 'round the flag on each recurrent Fourth, with true patriotism, not with chauvinistic chatter, it is still another step forward for liberty, justice, charity and all the exalted virtues by which men shall live.

There may be some who are too tired, too disinterested, too sophisticated to pay heed to the big day of the American year, which is indeed a pity. Do what you can to rescue such folks, to make them normal and simple and free, not stilled and aloof from the rest of us.

A dollar or two would be splendid—three or four would be that much more—and donations should be made to J. L. McCrery, the talented cashier of the Narberth National Bank.

CARLSON A SPEAKER

Leading patrols and scouts were given awards at the annual banquet of Merion Boy Scout Troop, No. 1, held at the Boy Scout House, to the rear of the Merion War Tribute House, yesterday (Thursday) evening.

On exhibit was a well-carved totem pole, made from a telegraph pole by the Owl Patrol, of which Charles Siebert is leader. It was judged the best of ones carved by the troop's four patrols in a contest this year. Also on display were many kinds of handicraft made by the troop during the season.

Loyalty award for the year was presented William E. Bergson by T. Dun Belfield, chairman of the troop committee.

Scoutmaster J. Alden Tift presented a plaque to the troop's Crow Patrol for leading in the year's inter-patrol contest in all-around scouting proficiency. An individual cup was presented each boy: Albert Webre, leader; Lawrence Gleeson, assistant leader; Hayden Johnson, John Wolfe, John Alden Tift, Jr., Henry Abbott, H. Harlan Crowell, Jr., and Jared Webre.

After the dinner an entertainment was given, including the showing of motion pictures of the Merion troop's activities on hikes and at Camp Delmont. Scout officials attending the banquet and giving addresses included Edward A. Carlson, of Ardmore, scout executive for the Delaware-Montgomery County Council.

Summer School Opens at Bryn Mawr College

112 Working Girl from U. S. and Abroad Begin Two Months' Study.

Ten years ago an innovation in educational practices was inaugurated at Bryn Mawr College with the establishment of a summer school for women workers in industry. Students have been attracted from every part of the United States and Europe. Other schools of a similar nature have sprung up elsewhere in the country. Its purpose: to promote a broader understanding of industrial problems.

Last Saturday the Bryn Mawr Summer School for Women Workers in Industry opened for its eleventh season of two months with 112 students from all parts of the United States and from England, Denmark and Sweden who were welcomed by Mrs. Helen Taft Manning, dean of the college. Miss Hilda Worthington Smith, director of the summer school, spoke to the students about the school and Miss Matilda Lindsay, vice president of the National Women's Trade Union League and a former student of the summer school, spoke about the present industrial situation.

The nationalities of the students include American, Swedish, Roumanian, Russian, Polish, Lithuanian, Austrian, Hungarian, Italian, German, Scotch, English and Danish.

Thirty-seven of the students come from Pennsylvania (22 from Philadelphia), 30 come from New York City and seven from other parts of New York; 15 come from the New England States—three from Connecticut, two from Rhode Island and 10 from Massachusetts; four come from New Jersey; five from Chicago and five from the Far West (Washington and Colorado); six come from the Middle West (Michigan and Ohio); nine from the South (Alabama, Maryland, North Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia). There are four foreign students, two from England, one from Sweden and one from Denmark.

The trades represented by the students are as follows: clothing (including millinery, corsets, neckwear, furs, etc.), 54; textile (including hosiery), 22; domestic and personal service (laundry, waitresses, a caterer, an elevator operator), 10; paper, upholstery and tobacco, three each; leather, watches, ammunition, electrical equipment and telephone operating, two each, and rubber, hardware, optical, lampshades, food, arts and crafts, one each, and one worker in a union office.

A special study of the unemployment problem will be made this year by several classes. One group will study various phases of international relations; another, the workers' relation to government. As usual an intensive health program will be carried on through medical examinations and corrective gymnastics and recreation activities will form a part of the summer program—swimming, tennis, folk dancing, dramatics and nature study.

Although the Bryn Mawr Summer School is only ten years old, four other workers' schools have been started by other groups as a direct result of the experiment at Bryn Mawr. Barnard College will enroll a group of women workers this summer for a six weeks' course as it has done in the past four years. Sixty workers, men and women, will attend the Wisconsin Summer School and in the South at Arden, North Carolina, a group of twenty-five women workers will be enrolled. Besides these four summer schools Vineyard Shore on the Hudson, a new resident school for an eight months' course in winter was started for former students of Bryn Mawr and the other summer schools.
